

SLAVERY AND HUMAN TRAFFICKING STATEMENT

1. This Statement is made on behalf of the board of directors of RCMA Group Pte Ltd (the "Group") in accordance with the Modern Slavery Act 2015 of the United Kingdom ("UK") (the "Act"). The Act requires commercial organisations meeting certain criteria to provide transparency on the steps taken to combat slavery and human trafficking in their businesses and supply chains. Pursuant to the requirements of the Act, the Group now presents our policies and practices around preventing and acting against slavery and human trafficking.

Background

2. The Group is in the business of trading rubber, cotton, coffee, sugar, and edible oils. It has its origins in the Netherlands and Germany in the edible oils and rubber markets. By a joint venture in 1998, it established its global headquarters in Singapore. The Group now employs over 200 members of staff worldwide, and operates in subsidiaries in Brazil, China, Guatemala, Malaysia, the Netherlands, Singapore, South Africa, Thailand, the UK, the United States of America ("US"), and Vietnam.

Our Commitment

3. As part of our commitment to combating slavery and human trafficking, we have taken and are taking the following steps:-

a) We are a founding member of the International Rubber Study Group on sustainable natural rubber. This is a multi-stakeholder initiative to provide a co-ordinated industry response to challenges across the whole sustainability agenda, including human and labour rights and freedoms. The Sustainable Natural Rubber Initiative (SNRi), launched in January 2015, sets guidelines and criteria for the natural rubber industry which include a strong emphasis on the elimination of forced and child labour from the natural rubber supply chain. The Group is registered under this scheme and actively seeks to work with all its suppliers in order to ensure compliance.

b) We work actively with the independent certification organisations the Rainforest Alliance (“RA”) and the Forest Stewardship Council (“FSC”), together with selected suppliers, to have these suppliers’ production certified as compliant with the standards of the Sustainable Agriculture Network (“SAN”) and the FSC. Both of these sets of standards specifically proscribe forced labour and other labour abuses as set out in the conventions of the International Labour Organisation.

c) We work with RA to arrange diagnostic visits to several rubber producers and their upstream supply chain in order to produce a gap analysis of a representative section of the Thai rubber smallholder sector with respect to the FSC and SAN sustainability standards.

d) The Group is in the process of being certified under the FSC-STD-40-004 Chain of Custody standard. This is expected to be completed by 31 December 2016.

Coffee

e) We are a partner of the 4C Association (Common Code for the Coffee Community) and are UTZ certified, and we adhere to their codes of conduct and sustainability standards.

f) We are finalizing our partnership with the Cotton Made in Africa initiative and will be taking specific steps to comply with the ecological, social, and economic standards of these organisations.

g) We are a member of the Better Cotton Initiative and comply with the standards set out in the Better Cotton Standard System.

h) The vast majority of our Southeast Asian purchasers are SA8000 certified. We are working with the remainder, as well as our buyers from the Indian Sub-Continent, to ascertain if such certification has been obtained and the steps to be taken to obtain such certification.

i) We are incorporating steps in our know-your-client and due diligence policies in the on-boarding of new counterparties, in order to understand the measures in place for addressing issues of slavery and human trafficking and to prevent engagement with violators of applicable international standards.

j) We are revising our current long- and short-form sale and purchase contracts to ensure that counterparties are aware of our observance of and compliance with international laws and regulations governing slavery and human trafficking, and that correspondingly, counterparties are equally bound to the same standards.

k) We are conducting a review of existing counterparties to ascertain compliance with applicable slavery and human trafficking laws and regulations with specific reference to the Global Slavery Index and the US Department of State's annual Trafficking-In-Persons Report.

l) We conduct periodic visits to producers' and suppliers' facilities and plantations in order to ascertain compliance with applicable slavery and human trafficking laws and regulations.

m) We are conducting research into joining the United Nations Global Compact and aligning our business with the ISO 26000 standard on Social Responsibility.

n) We are drawing up a global compliance and ethics program to ensure awareness of and adherence to local and international laws and regulations on slavery and human trafficking, sanctions, financial crime, environmental justice, and privacy. Internal whistleblowing is encouraged and whistle-blowers are protected. Specifically, our global program includes a Statement on Commitment to Sustainability setting out the following key principles:

i. The RCMA Group does not condone forced labour, human trafficking, or child labour.

ii. The RCMA Group adopts hiring policies in which individuals are required to meet minimum age requirements and in compliance with all local regulations and laws.

iv. The RCMA Group engages our partners, contractors, subcontractors, suppliers, and counterparts to adopt our guiding principles in our continual business relationships.

Next Steps

4. The RCMA Group regularly assesses the nature and extent of its exposure to slavery and human trafficking, and will continue to review and improve its policies and procedures to ensure compliance with applicable laws and regulations.
